Queensland Ag Shows Next Generation Committee 2022 Management Committee Application Form

Queensland Ag Show is currently seeking applications for Management Committee positions on the Queensland Ag Shows Next Generation Committee.

Applicants will be people between the ages of 18 and 35 within the Queensland Agricultural Show Movement. They will become members of a team on a Management Committee to continue the work of the Next Generation Committee.

The Next Generation Committee has a long and proud history of contributing to the Show Movement in Queensland. This has been achieved by providing support in the following ways:

- Involvement with local shows and Sub Chambers and a general knowledge of the Show Movement.
 - Assisting in the running and co-ordinating of Queensland Ag Show Competitions (Rural Ambassador, Showgirl, Young Judges and Paraders, Ute Muster, Dark Rich Fruit Cake)
 - Working as a part of a team to create Social Media content ideas and develop content promoting Next Gen initiatives. This includes scheduling posts on a weekly or fortnightly basis
 - Assisting in developing, co-ordinating and running fundraising opportunities.
 - Developing and creating content to share with our members in a newsletter format and through email communication. This includes website management in conjunction with the Queensland Ag Shows office to continually generate and update website content, ensuring accurate and timely information is available with the view to improving existing resources.

- Assisting with co-ordinating and running events that are conducted under the banner of Queensland Ag Shows (eg. Biennial Queensland Ag Shows Conference, Queensland Ag Shows Shows Awards and Gala Dinner).

In addition to the above all applicants must be able to work as a part of a team, be forthcoming with ideas and contribute to discussions at meetings. Each Next Gen member must have the ability to independently complete delegated tasks within allocated deadlines. As a state-wide committee you must have the ability to openly communicate with the rest of the committee this is essential and includes responding to emails in a timely manner. We are looking for proactive people with innovative ideas to continue the development of the Next Generation brand and introduce new initiatives to further deliver on our mission statement.

You will also be involved in the strategic review of Queensland Ag Shows as all sub-committees may be involved with the review as committee functions are subject to review through the strategic review process.

Applications will be reviewed by the Queensland Ag Shows Executive Committee and successful applicants will be advised once their appointment is approved by the Queensland Ag Shows Board. The Executive will also determine the Office Bearers of the Management Committee.

Successful applicants will be announced following the Queensland Ag Shows AGM which will be held in Cairns on 19th March 2022 with their term commencing at that time.

Applications are to be emailed to: t.beckingham@queenslandshows.com.au

Applications Close: 4pm Monday 31st January 2022
